We are pleased to welcome Eli Savit, Washtenaw County Prosecutor, as our Keynote Speaker! Since he was elected in 2021, Eli has been a champion for progressive prosecution in Washtenaw with a focus on justice for all. His support for marginalized populations, and his innovative approach to reforming the criminal justice system has had a big impact in a short time.

This year, with support from the Prosecutor's Office, Washtenaw Literacy is excited to launch a new program, New Pages, providing literacy support for returning citizens. Please join us for lunch to hear more about New Pages, and all the ways that Wash Lit works to help people build skills, increase self-determination, and realize their true potential. We will also hear from two of our Learners about their inspiring literacy journey.

Lunch is provided. At the end of the program, we will ask you for support. There is no minimum or maximum donation.

Please RSVP to tscherniwetz@washtenawliteracy.org by Monday, May 8, 2023, and be sure to include any food allergies or dietary restrictions.

Washtenaw Literacy provides free tutoring in reading, writing, speaking and listening in English, everyday math, and digital literacy to adults, 16 years and older. We believe that literacy is the cornerstone of equity, and is essential for a just and sustainable community.
